

All people living in the United States, regardless of health condition, should have comprehensive, understandable, and affordable health care coverage.

All people living in the United States should receive quality, affordable, and preventive care.

All people living in the United States should have guaranteed access to preventive services without cost sharing with minimal cost, regardless of how they gain coverage.

Race, gender, and geographic disparities in health and health care must be eliminated.

Public health infrastructure should be strengthened to effectively engage diverse